

1. Summer Holidays

Four friends have decided to spend their summer holidays together this year. David's dad offered them a lift to their destination and to pay for his accommodation.

Create a detailed holiday offer for these four friends. Make sure that each of them is satisfied with the offer and create the best possible ratio between quality and price. Write a detailed explanation of why you have decided on a particular offer.

2. REAL ESTATE

People who have made money working hard either for their own company or for someone else sometimes decide not to keep their money in a bank, but to invest it elsewhere. A common choice in those situations is purchasing a property.

Question 1: Do you believe that such investments are good? Please provide a detailed answer.

Question 2: Suppose you are an investment advisor and your client wants to invest €200,000 in real estate. What would you recommend and why? Please provide a detailed answer.

3. Detective's Letter

Imagine the four of you have won a detective competition and received a letter from a famous detective as a reward. The letter provides instructions on how to find the real reward. Of course, since the letter was written by a real detective, and you are the winners of a detective competition, the letter itself is a clue to a mystery you need to solve.

"The air distance between two towns in France is 710 kilometers. The name of one of the towns begins with N, and the other with S. In one of these towns, there is a street named after the other town, and at number 42, there is something reminiscent of the name of one continent. At the North end of the largest lake on the said continent is an island whose name begins with D. The area of that island is between 20 and 100 square kilometers. Send a joke to the following email: challengename*number*@gmail.com (replace name with the lowercase name of the island, and number with a whole number closest to the area of the island in square kilometers). If I like the joke, you will get your reward."

In the letter, your task is to discover the correct email address and send a joke. Be sure to write the name of your team in the email. If you do not succeed in finding all the clues, send everything you HAVE discovered and explain how you came to those conclusions. Everything you do will be assessed and points will be awarded accordingly.
